Help People with Similar issues

The purpose of this app is to connect two random people having similar problems in life. The two people will be anonymous to each other and after connecting they can chat about their issues (vent out). Having similar issues will make them understand the other person's problems better and after talking about it, both of them will feel better.
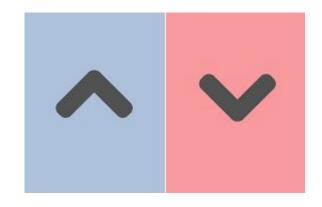

Motivational Quotes

The app will also display user with motivational quotes relating to their problems.

Feedback system

The app will also provide a feedback system or a upvote-downvote system to give to the other person. This will make sure that when you connect to someone you'll if that person is here for the actual purpose or not.

Future Work

If there are a significant number of users we can turn this into a whole community where group chats can also be done.
